

of a five-time deported illegal alien and a seven-time convicted felon should never have happened. But that is exactly what happens when a city ignores immigration laws.

The consequences of government-sanctioned lawlessness are real, and this is another in a long line of tragic wake-up calls that cry out for deporting criminal aliens.

Ms. Steinle's killer, a wanted criminal illegal alien, had been in custody but then was put back on the streets by San Francisco officials.

The Obama administration shares blame because they have done nothing to combat sanctuary city policies. Instead, they have encouraged them.

We swore an oath to protect the American people from enemies, foreign and domestic. This Congress should take action to combat sanctuary city policies and make sure that criminal aliens are deported.

I rise in strong support of legislation that I have cosponsored that would do just that, because it is time to put the safety of American citizens first.

HONORING JOHN DAVID CROW

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 6, 2015, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FLORES) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. FLORES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor one of my constituents, John David Crow, of College Station, Texas, who passed away on June 17.

To say that John David Crow is a Texas football legend is an understatement. He was a Heisman Trophy winner, a four-time NFL Pro Bowl selection, a college football coach, and an administrator for the Texas A&M University Athletic Department.

John David was born on July 8, 1935, in Marion, Louisiana. When he was born, the umbilical cord was wrapped around his neck, causing nerve damage and permanently paralyzing the left half of his face. John David, however, never let that hardship hold him back.

As a junior at Springhill High School, he led the football team to win the Class 1A State championship in 1952. As a senior, he led the basketball team to win the Class 1A State championship in 1954.

After graduating from high school, John David married his high school sweetheart, Carolyn Gilliam, on July 2, 1954. Earlier that year, John David had committed to play football at Texas A&M University for legendary coach Paul "Bear" Bryant; so, in the fall of 1954, John David and Carolyn moved to College Station.

During his time at Texas A&M, John David would play running back, defensive positions, and special teams as a kick returner. He truly was the complete collegiate football package.

In 1956, he led the Aggies to their first ever road victory against archrival, the University of Texas, at Memorial Stadium in Austin. He also led the Aggies to a number one ranking during the 1957 season.

Some of the accolades that John David received as an Aggie included being named twice to the Southwest Conference all-conference team in 1956 and 1957. He also received all of the following recognitions in 1957: a consensus All-American, the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy, the Southwesterner of the Year and Amateur Athlete of the Year, the Chick Harley Award, the United Press Player of the Year, the United Press Back of the Year, and the Heisman Trophy.

John David was Texas A&M University's first Heisman Trophy winner and the only Heisman Trophy winner to
